

Description

New on the market comes this small townhouse in the heart of Naxxar. Once converted this could be a cozy home or is a great opportunity for an airbnb or office. Upon entrance one finds a hall with the original stone staircase of the property leading to the first floor where one finds another hall and a large room, at roof level one finds another spacious room leading onto the roof terrace. Property might need some structural reconstruction but once converted would be a lovely property in a lovely neighborhood
